Best Sustainable Consulting & Engineering Firm 2016 – Africa & Best Sustainable Project Development (Rwanda): APDL Development, Kigali

AOS is a specialist professional consultancy firm providing mechanical, electrical, project management and sustainability consultancy services. Olu Soluade provides us with a unique overview of the company and its service offering.

A

OS is committed to the delivery of Absolutely Outstanding Service. Olu explains what this means and how it aims to support clients throughout every stage of their project.

“Our Mission is to ensure that customers and clients satisfaction is guaranteed through service delivery, professional excellence and personal attention. Our objective is to assist our client to achieve a development in accordance with best practice, international benchmarks and remain mindful of local conditions of the countries where we operate.

“To achieve this we continually improve and deliver professional service to our clients. We do not hold back in implementing new technologies that will result in lower lifecycle cost to our clients and the reduction of the carbon footprint.

“These client’s ranges from International Blue chip companies, Government, individuals and parastatals.”

Internally, Olu explained that the firm’s focus is on improvement and support. “The culture within our firm is the promotion of total man i.e. developing yourself and your skills. If you do this and you are satisfied about yourself, you will inevitably deliver outstanding services to the clients. We focus on the main things and not on minor things that have the ability to distract.

Looking ahead, Olu was positive about the firm’s future and keen to continue improving in order to better support customers.

“In the future we are keen to continue to provide an even better service to our clients and support them to create better projects.”

As a final comment, Olu extended his thanks to the developers who helped make his award winning project a success.

“My appreciation goes to the developer, Acacia Property Development Limited, Kigali with the entire professional team led by Mr Tom Bowman of Bowman and Associates, Kenya, the contractors, led by Roko, Kigali with all the MEP contractors and every single team member that made the project a success.”
